Attractive Windows.

The illuminated signs and show windows at Wines drug store have attracted much attention of late. Scores of small colored electric light bulbs, artistically arranged, give a very pleasing effect and show up well.

High Priced Land.

The highest priced land sold in Madison county in many a day was a tract of 2 1/2 acres on Rosey, which was sold by the Master Commissioner Friday. It was sold to satisfy a judgment of the Madison Circuit Court, and brought the sum of $700.

Smallpox Scare Over.

There has been much improvement in the smallpox situation around Kingston and Speedwell during the past few weeks. There are said to be only one or two patients now and the disease is in the midst of its decline. It is thought now that there is no danger of a further spread of the disease.

After Bob Taylor.

The managers of the Grand are trying to secure Gov. Bob Taylor for the latter part of May. All who have had the good fortune of hearing Gov. Taylor, as well as those who have not, are eagerly anxious that the engagement may be made. He is acknowledged to be the most popular platform orator in the country and his return to Richmond will be greeted with pleasure.

Thema.

We can't pass this week without making special mention of the production of Thema at the New Opera House on last Tuesday evening. This was one of the best attractions that has been here this season. The company was unusually strong and the scenery and electrical effects were superb. A good audience witnessed this play and every one was highly pleased.

Magistrate Reigned.

Squire S. H. Lane, who was elected Justice of the Peace in the Election Magisterial district at the last regular election, offered his resignation to county Judge Turpin last Thursday. The reason for the resignation is that Squire Lane has moved out of the district. The vacancy will be filled by the Governor on the recommendation of Judge Turpin.

A Great Loss.

A former resident remarked to a young lady of this city the other day that the removal of Central University was a great loss to the community. She replied that it was indeed. "Why," she used to put on her winter wraps to see the Thanksgiving games, and she said she would miss the April speaking and summer dress were the sure sign of commencement. If it were not for the change of weather we would lose all track of the seasons now."

Left a Few.

Sneak thieves have been getting in their work in and about Waco for a week or so. One of the boldest robberies reported occurred at the home of Judge Alvan Hilde, where the thieves drove off a flock of geese, leaving only fourteen behind. However, Mrs. Hilde has the happy faculty of seeing the bright side always, and she says she is so glad that they left her the fourteen geese and the Judge that she does not mind losing the rest.

Painful Accident.

The community was very much excited last Wednesday afternoon over a most painful accident which befell Mr. C. M. Shearer, the popular and efficient clerk at Covington & Banks. While unpacking some tools, one slipped from his hands, and in dodging to protect his foot, fell wrenching his back in a horrible manner. He was taken to his home on a stretcher and made as comfortable as possible. His many friends will be happy to learn of his early recovery.

Ignored.

Our neighbor town, Nicholasville has recently acted independently, notwithstanding the fact that Gov. Beckham was connected. When Judge T. B. Crutcher died a vacancy was created in the city office. Gov. Beckham appointed William Stanley to succeed to the office of police judge. The city council, however, had a call meeting and elected John Traynor, claiming that the Governor had no right to interfere in the city government, and hence ignored the appointment of Stanley.

In Danger.

While Senator Farris was being shaved in a mountain town, the crowd in the barber shop was talking of some raids that had been made on whiskey dens in the mountains when the barber, who was shaving the Senator, said: "That is caused by that cursed Farris law, and the author of it ought to have his d—n throat cut." Of course he didn't know the Senator, but as the latter felt the steel crawling over his head, he provided for the shaving and very properly rewarded the remark—Lancaster Record.

Spring Schools.

Several schools in the county have opened for the spring term during the past few weeks. Some of those who have prospered schools are Miss Rebecca Edwards, at Byletown; Prof. Durrett White, at College Hill; Prof. B. Harris, at Des Moines; Mrs. M. H. Berry at Union City; Prof. J. T. Wash, at Valley View; Miss Lottie Farris, at White's Station; Mrs. Nancy Stevens and Miss Ellen Hays, at Berea; Miss Doreen Fennets, at Runyon Grove and Miss Emma Todd at the Bruton V. H. school house.

Making Them New.

The first locomotive rebuilt in the new L. & A. shops is about finished and will be ready to run out in a few days. The engine was brought into the shops last fall but work on it was suspended for some time, owing to the delay in getting the machinery to running. The engine was rebuilt from the fire box out, very few pieces of the original remaining, and Master Mechanic Wellisch says there will be no better on the road. Another locomotive was brought in from Beattyville last week and is being dismantled at mid night. It will come out of the shop in about six weeks, as good as new.

The Rogers Brothers.

No other attraction in years has created the same interest in Lexington as the Rogers Brothers, who come to the opera house in this city for two performances, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 4 and 5. They will be seen in their latest and greatest success, "The Rogers Brothers at Harvard." The company numbers over seventy-five people and is accompanied by a special orchestra and two car loads of special scenery. It was on account of the numerous inquiries for seats from out-of-town patrons that the matinee was arranged and for the accommodation of those who desire to attend there will be reduced rates on all roads entering Lexington.

The Millers Meet.

Messrs. A. H. Zaring, representing the W. Zaring Grain & Mill Co., and J. F. Chensault, of the Elliott Mill Co., attended the meeting of the Kentucky Millers Association at Lexington last Friday. Hugh McCallan at the Temple beginning promptly at 6 p. m. This work will be followed by an elaborate banquet, after which the order of the Temple will be conferred.

He Administered Grace.

Judge W. H. Fairman, of Pennsylvania, came to Kentucky to visit Gen. Cassius M. Clay at his home at White Hall, in Madison county. Judge Fairman, who is one of the leading lawyers and wealthiest coal land owners of the Quaker state, in telling of his visit to White Hall said: "I had read a great deal of Gen. Cassius M. Clay, and I admired his many courageous acts. The man who dared to speak what he thought to be the truth, for the consequences at such a time and who was willing to meet the enemy on the field of honor was the custom of his time and is still living at the age of ninety-seven, the hero of three wars had aroused my sympathy and I resolved to make a trip to Kentucky to see him. I found him the great man I expected. He stood erect leaning slightly on his cane, and spoke in tones of his past battles in life. I was highly entertained for half an hour at the home of the grand Kentuckian."—Lexington Democrat.

The Fiscal Court.

The Fiscal Court met again Wednesday and adjourned Thursday afternoon having completed the business left over from the week before. ### Twelve Postmasters in 101 Years.

Mr. John P. M. Taylor, who probably knows as much about the workings of the post office department as the Postmaster General himself, gave us some interesting facts about the Richmond office the other day. The office was established July 1, 1802, nearly 101 years ago. In that time there have been twelve postmasters, one of whom was Mr. Taylor, who served over twenty-one years, or nearly one fourth of the whole time. The following is the list of the postmasters and the terms of service:

William Miller	July, 1802
Robert Miller	Aug. 1806
William Jenkins	May, 1829
James M. Shackelford	May, 1841
Robert E. Kelly	May, 1845
James M. White	Jan., 1855
James H. Berry	April, 1856
Palentine P. Ballard	April, 1861
John P. M. Taylor	Dec., 1864
Wm. B. Willis	Mar., 1887
Wm. A. Powell	Mar., 1891
C. C. Wallace	April, 1899
Mr. Willis, the only Democrat who has held the office since the war, was appointed twice by President Cleveland. Mr. Wallace's first term is nearing an end, but his friends are in no way uneasy as his re-appointment is considered certain, there being thus far no other applicant.

Announces for Jail.

Mr. N. B. Jones, of the Red House neighborhood formally announces his candidacy for jailer of Madison county, in today's CLIMAX. Mr. Jones is an old time Democrat and comes from a section that has been Democratic all the way. He announced his candidacy before the last election, but afterward withdrew his name, deciding it was best to make the race this time. He said he would win and will be heard from in the finish.

Ster Acquitted.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty Saturday afternoon in the case of J. C. Silor for the killing of Dr. Foynt, at Point Lick. Able speeches were made by R. H. Toulson, L. L. Walker, J. M. Rothwell, J. T. Hays and W. G. Welch for the defense, and by County Attorney Hamilton, Commonwealth's Attorney Owsley, W. I. Williams, Robert Hardin and former Gov. Bradley for the prosecution. Mr. Bradley stated in his speech that in his thirty years' practice in Garrard county he had never seen as large and as interested a crowd.

SURPRISE—Entered into rest, at her home near White Hall, in the twilight of March 15th, Mrs. Victoria Ramsey Smith. The world is better off for her life. True to herself, she was true to all. Her summons was not unlooked for, and it is a joy to know it found her ready. She was faithful in all the relations of life, as daughter, wife, sister, friend and neighbor. Her chief characteristics were her sincerity, her unselfishness, her ready sympathy, and above all, her tender love and care for her aged husband. Her love of her home was unparalleled. There she was happiest. It may be said of her that she was truly a child of nature, and loved God's world, the fields and trees, and almost to the last day of her life, spoke with interest and enthusiasm of her flowers. And indeed all her flowers, she touched, seemed to feel the magic, and always grew under her hand. Tender and devoted to her family, true and sincere to her friends, ever ready and responsive to her neighbors, she deeply mourn her loss. But though she has passed from our sight, she will ever live in our hearts with loving remembrance. Let us strive to follow her example by living such a life of truth and loyalty! Sorrow and pain for her are over. Her Heavenly Father has lifted her away from all trouble to the home made with angels, eternal in the Heavens. May He in his tender mercy send comfort to the bereaved hearts of those who loved her, and strengthen them to bear this trial, that they may trust Him, and remember He has said, "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee."
